

Regeneris Consulting is an independent economics consultancy operating across the UK and internationally for private and public sector clients.

We create economic and social insight to help our clients make better decisions and have a positive impact on people, places and the economy.

Our commitment to our clients, collaborators and employees is underpinned by the Regeneris hallmarks:

Quality: rigorous analysis and robust research. We only publish work we are proud to put our name to, and which stands up to scrutiny.

Clarity: complex questions, answered with clear and simple solutions. We want you to understand what we say and what it means.

Delivery: working flexibly towards agreed objectives. We work hard to deliver what you asked for, on time.

Innovation: a forward perspective, reflecting the latest thinking. We challenge ourselves and our clients to seek out creative solutions, and are always open to new ideas.

Spirit: a great place to work where talented people are supported and inspired. We motivate people to deliver their best.
